Methodology

Methodology

These awards offer the opportunity to showcase an institution's achievements within the review period (1 July 2024 to 30 June 2025). Each entrant should submit via the awards portal by the 31 October 2025.

In each entry form, there are required financial metrics for the business and the category, in addition to qualitative text boxes. All of these align to the criteria Euromoney will use to evaluate entrants and are crucial to the research process.

Entrants must validate with evidence any improvements their business has made in terms of operations and products during the period under review. Such evidence includes key metrics related to their business (such as assets under management, net new assets and revenues), as well as key metrics applicable to specific categories (such as penetration rates of product lines and trading volumes of investments).

Entrants may also attach supporting documentation for their submissions.

The scoring frameworks used by Euromoney's research team use a matrix that awards more points to those entries that provide the data requested.

Financial Metrics

Please provide all requested data within the prescribed timeframe and currency (where applicable). Euromoney will use this data to benchmark an entrant's business against its peers.

Euromoney will assess performance based on growth and outright scale of the key metrics provided. An entrant's strategy will be taken into consideration when evaluating these metrics.

Incomplete financial disclosures significantly limit the ability of Euromoney research analysts to recognise an applicant's performance - and may be reflected in winner decisions.

Assessment

Euromoney aims to make the process as transparent as possible.

Entrants will be assessed by Euromoney's research team (including the Chief Research Officer, the Global Head of Research, the Global Head of Private Banking, the Global Head of Sustainability, and others).

Entrants will be scored using frameworks specific to each category.

An entry and any information collected during an interview and secondary research, in addition to the team's knowledge of the market, will all contribute to the scores.

Research analysts will be allocated categories based on experience and knowledge, with more than one analyst assessing each category.

Research analysts may nominate entries for additional award categories if they qualify for recognition in more than one area. Entrants will be informed if this is the case with their submission(s).
